NARRATIVE

On 6/13/14 at approximately 1319 hrs, I responded to 5635 Mission St. on a call of a possible stalking case. 3H13C (Officers Morrow #1948 and Naval #2271) responded to the scene and assisted in the investigation.

I met with (R/V-1) Colleen Holland. Holland told me the following: She and the suspect, (S/1) Joseph Connelly dated and lived together for approximately 13 years. The relationship ended approximately 1/1/2012. Holland and Connelly also currently own a business together and have for approximately 14 years. Holland and Connelly are currently in litigation over the ownership of the business.

Holland stated on 5/21/14, during a SF Superior Court case regarding the business, Connelly's lawyer had very specific dates and times regarding Holland's whereabouts. Holland then believed she was being either followed or tracked.

On 5/23/14, Holland took her (U/O-1) vehicle to Audio Dimensions (5635 Mission St.) to check her vehicle for a tracking device. Holland stated she owns the vehicle and the vehicle is always in her control. Holland added that during her and Connelly's relationship, he had access to the vehicle, but did not have keys. Holland stated after the relationship ended, Connelly should not have had access to the vehicle.

Bill Cen (No further information) of Audio Dimensions took apart the front dash and discovered a working tracking device on the vehicle (In violation of 637.7 PC). The (E/1) Securus GPS tracking device was inside her passenger side dash (directly in front of the front passenger seat) and the (E/2) power cord was located in the steering column. Holland stated she did not authorize the tracking devices for her vehicle and believed having the devices removed would alert the suspect, so she left the devices on the vehicle.

On 5/23/14, Holland went to the website of the GPS (www.securusgps.com) which revealed the manufacturer will send a text alert of the location of the vehicle to a designated cellular phone. Per the website, the text messages will come from the number 96225.

Holland, who has access to Connelly's phone records (because his phone is still under Holland's account), checked the phone records. Connelly's phone records show from 6/3/13 to 6/12/14, 330 updates of Holland's location has been sent to Connelly's cellular phone.

Holland also checked the accounting system of her business which revealed credit card payments were made from the business (VegNews) to Securus from 5/25/13 to 1/24/14. Holland stated she did not authorize the payments/purchase.

Due to the prior dating relationship and cohabitation, I listed the domestic violence (secondary only) title. Holland does not know if Connelly was under the influence of drugs/alcohol during the above incident. Holland denied confidentiality and shelters. Holland also stated there was a previous restraining order in place against Connelly, but it had expired. I checked the system which revealed no restraining/emergency protective orders.

Once removed from the vehicle, I collected the (E/1)GPS tracking device and it's (E/2) power cord at the scene. I issued Holland a (E/3) property receipt for (E/1-E/2). I also collected the (E/4) 109 pages of documents Holland had, which allegedly support her claim, at the scene.

At the scene, Officer Morrow took six digital photos from my department issued cellular phone of the GPS tracking device/power cord, as it was still connected to the vehicle. I placed the photos on a (E/6) disc and subsequently booked the disc at Ingleside Station.

I completed the (E/5) DV supplemental forms (SFPD 480 (a) and (b)) for the victim and (SFPD 480 (b)) for the suspect. I later booked them as evidence at Co. H.
